The screenshot shows the official website of the Beijing Engineering Surveying and Design Association. The main navigation bar includes links for Home, News, Professional Services, Consulting Services, Project Management, Professional Education, and More. A banner at the top reads "Design to Face the Future Embrace Technology Integrate with the People". Below the banner, there is a search bar and a link to "Green Building Identification Query". The central content area displays a table titled "Green Building Identification Information Table" with the following columns: Project Name, Address, Project Type, Green Level, Status, and Remarks. The table lists several projects, such as the China National Convention Center, the National Stadium (Bird's Nest), and the National Aquatics Center (Water Cube). Each entry includes a small thumbnail image of the building.
